SOLD HORSE FOR $5.

Thereby James Hopkins Got Himself in Trouble.

WAS ASSESSED $5 AND COSTS

If Decision of the Justice Stands the Price of Animal and $6.45 in Addition—Appeal Noted.

James Hopkins was last night fined $5 and cost by Magistrate L. E. Smith for selling a horse, which, it is alleged, he had borrowed from Carter Braxton, colored.

Braxton claimed that Hopkins borrowed the equine to come to Hampton and then sold it for the sum of $5. Hopkins contended that he had an interest in the horse. The entire cost was $11.45.

When the justice announced his decision imposing the fine of $5 and costs, Hopkins took an appeal to the Circuit Court. He gave bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance in the Circuit Court.

MR. REX IN CHARGE.

Popular Theatrical Man to Manage Buckroe Hotel.

Mr. Charles W. Rex, who has so successfully managed the Casino at Buckroe Beach, has just closed negotiations with the Newport News and Old Point Railway and Electric Company by the terms of which he will manage the Buckroe Hotel this season, as well as the Casino.

The announcement that Mr. Rex will take the management of the popular summer resort will be good news to the young people in this section. It means that Buckroe will be more attractive this season than ever. Mr. Rex has had much experience in running theatres at summer resorts.

In a few days workmen will begin getting things in shape for the opening of the resort. The hotel will be remodeled inside and newly furnished.

Many new attractions will be found at the beach this summer.

Mr. Rex, it is said, will also have charge at Sewall's Point.

SOCIAL SESSION A SUCCESS

HAMPTON AERIE OF EAGLES

HELD OPEN HOUSE

Class of Dozen Candidates Were Initiated Into the Wonderful Mysteries of the "Birds."

After initiating a dozen or more candidates last night Hampton Aerie of Eagles enjoyed one of the best social sessions in the history of the aerie. Following the custom of the order there was no stated program, but the evening was passed with a number of interesting features. There were several songs, recitations, vocal and instrumental music and one or two monologue stunts. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. S. S. Lawson, the past worthy president of the aerie, will represent Hampton aerie at the meeting of the Grand Aerie next August in Denver, Col.

Probably no aerie in Virginia has had a larger growth than the Hampton aerie, which now has a membership of nearly 150. There is hardly a meeting that several applications for membership are not proposed.

Mayor L. P. Furness, of Phoebus, is the present worthy president of the aerie.

Forage Master at Fort.

Mr. Benjamin F. Kennedy, of Chattanooga, who was recently appointed forage master at Fort Monroe, has arrived with his wife and will make his home in Phoebus. Mr. Kennedy will succeed Capt. T. V. Turney, who has held the position since the death of the late Mr. Joseph Fulton.

The office of forage master in the United States army has about been abolished, the position at Fort Monroe being the only one now in existence.

Mr. Birdsong Leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Birdsong left yesterday for Waverly, Va., where they will reside temporarily. Mr. Birdsong came to Hampton several months ago to accept the position of decorator and advertising manager for Messrs. Steiner & Kaufman. He leaves Hampton on account of his health.

Jennie Back at "Home."

Jennie Waites, who spends about two-thirds of her time in jail, and who was only released from the lock-up Wednesday, after having been in for 12 months, was arrested last night by Officer Leslie Curtis. She will be given a hearing in the police court today on the charge of drunkenness.

Mr. Cumming Improving.

Mr. S. Gordon Cumming, who has been quite sick with the grip in his residence in East Queen street, was much better yesterday. He hopes to be out by the first of next week.
